

SCOUTS CANADA YLT Charades

COUNCIL ROCK

Leadership: Communication

The Adventure:

Have you played charades before? It's a game in which you act out clues for your team to guess a phrase or title. The catch? You can't speak or make any sounds!

This is a fun way to explore non-verbal communication.

Safety Note:

Do a risk assessment before playing this game.
Are there any slipping or tripping hazards?

Online Resources:

Marvel Heroes (marvel.com/characters)

Plan:

- What phrases, titles and characters will you write down as clues for this game?
- Will you have a theme to your clues (like superheroes)?

Do:

- Play charades in teams or as a large group.

Review:

- What is one thing you learned about nonverbal communication?
- What was the hardest part about communicating your message?
- What are some other times in life when you cannot speak to communicate?

Canadianpath.ca

It starts with Scouts